MANAGER'S COMMENTARY:

With the US widely expected to hike rates at least 3 times in 2018, we view that monetary policy in major economies is likely to remain divergent in the medium term. However, with better global growth and slightly higher inflation expectation, the yield curve may steepen slightly, i.e. yields on the longer end may start to go up, relative to last year. Foreign demand for MGS is seen to be on the rise amid the strengthening ringgit. However, some of this renewed interest may be short term, thus we caution on the risk of reversal. With better economic growth, corporates' credits are expected to improve and hence we prefer to enhance yield by switching from government and government guaranteed bonds to corporate bonds. We are shortening duration slightly to around 5.0 – 5.5 years.
